

CHAPLAIN OF THE TUILERIES.

Former Notable in Paris Social Life Who Has Abandoned His Old Calling.

A singular personage in Paris social life has disappeared in the person of ex-Mgr. Bauer, who was formerly the brilliant chaplain of the Tuileries, says the Paris correspondent of the London Chronicle. Mgr. Bauer, who was of Jewish extraction, began life as a stock broker's clerk, but suddenly abandoned that calling and entered the seminary of St. Sulpice. After his ordination his eloquence attracted Napoleon III, who offered him a court chaplaincy, with the special task of teaching the prince imperial elocution. M. Bauer drew large congregations and on several occasions he occupied the pulpit of Notre Dame. He accompanied Empress Eugenie to Egypt and delivered a magnificent discourse at the inaugural ceremony of the Suez canal. During the war of 1870 M. Bauer attended the sick and wounded outside the walls of Paris.

In 1872 he wrote to Cardinal Guibert informing him that for personal reasons he could no longer support the yoke of the priesthood. Since then the ex-prelate has been a constant frequenter of the opera and the affable patron of art and literature. His means were considerable and he gave away a good deal in charity. He was very popular among his former imperialist friends and enjoyed a joke over his former career. On one occasion he met Gen. de Gallifet on the staircase of the opera and gave him a punctilious military salute. The general smiled benignly and, raising his hand, solemnly blessed the ex-monsignore.

THRIVES ON KEROSENE.

Smallest Mosquito of Its Class Is a Terror and Grows Fat on the Oil.

Dr. L. O. Howard, the government's chief expert on the mosquito question, frankly admits that one variety of the pestiferous insect has turned up in New Jersey and on the islands around the harbor of New York with which he and all the government forces cannot cope. This species has been named and classified as the Aedes Smithii. A member of Dr. Howard's staff named Smith discovered this most tormenting species of the entire family and that accounts for the latter part of the terror's name.

The Aedes Smithii is the smallest mosquito known, as well as the most ravenous and the hardest to kill. Every other species of the tribe succumbs to kerosene oil when that fluid is poured on water in which the young mosquitoes are maturing. But not so the Aedes Smithii. This little vixen thrives and grows fat on kerosene.

Dr. Howard's experts hint that they have found a poison that will kill Smith's terror, as it is called among the scientists of the agricultural department, but until they satisfy themselves by further tests they will make no public announcement.

A NEW BUILDING MATERIAL.

Great Things Are Expected of Uralite, the Invention of a Russian Officer.

A new building material which promises much for the future is called Uralite. It is the invention of a Russian artillery officer and chemist named Imshentzky. Uralite is composed of asbestos fiber, with a proper proportion of silicate, bicarbonate of soda and chalk, and is absolutely fireproof. In a soft form a sheet of Uralite is like an asbestos board; when hard it resembles finely sawn stone and has a metallic ring. Besides being a non-conductor of heat and electricity, it is practically waterproof (and may be made entirely so by paint), and it is not affected either by atmospheric influences or by the acids contained in smoke, which rapidly destroy galvanized iron. It can be cut by the usual carpenter's or woodworker's tools; it can be veneered to form paneling for walls or partitions; it can be painted, grained, polished and glued together like wood; it is not affected when exposed to moisture or great changes of temperature, and it can be given any desired color either during the process of manufacture or afterward.

A NEW FOOD PLANT.

Curious Growth of Uganda Recently Discovered by a Coffee Grower.

There have recently been imported into England specimens of the "glycine subterranea," a plant which is in some respects the most curious in the world, reports a London paper. Mr. Balland, who has reported on it, says that its roots contain every principle necessary for human food. The plant was discovered by a coffee grower in Uganda. Its bulb is shaped like an egg, and is of a dark red hue with black stripes. It is ground into a flour which tastes like chestnuts. Two pounds of this flour is sufficient to keep a man for a day, and will supply the place of bread, meat, butter and vegetables. Unfortunately, the glycine will not flourish in cold climates. It is, however, to be introduced in India and Brazil, where it should prove an enormous addition to the food plants there available. No doubt its finder will make a very good thing of his discovery.

Expert Forgers Wanted.

Constant employment, according to an advertisement in an Italian newspaper, can be obtained by experts capable of imitating the handwriting of old manuscripts. Seldom, perhaps, has a forger been advertised for so openly.

TOLEDO AMUSEMENTS.

Across the Pacific.

Harry Blaney, the popular comedian, and his company will appear at Burt's Theater the first four days of next week commencing with Sunday matinee, in his military drama, "Across the Pacific."

Commencing Thursday, Sept. 10, the attraction at Burt's will be "The Great Buffalo Mystery."

McCabe and Mack who have achieved a lofty position as Irish comedians, and the well known soubrette, Mazie Trumbull, appear as the stellar figures in "The Irish Pawnbrokers" announced at the Lyceum theater, Toledo, next Sunday, Sept. 6, for four days with Matinee Tuesday. The new play offers them and their funmaking allies a prolific field to display their talents and they let no chance escape to create hilarity.

The Great Scenic Production, "On the Bridge at Midnight," commencing Thursday Matinee Sep. 10.

Return of Ben Hur To Toledo.

It is with much pleasure this paper is able to chronicle the news, that Klaw & Erlanger's stupendous production of Ben Hur, which scored such a triumph at the Valentine Theatre, Toledo, last March, has been re-booked by the management of that play-house to open its regular season the week of Sept. 21 to 26.

Unlike so many plays taken from novels, "Ben Hur" has been deftly handled, brings out the bone and sinew of that great story, and holds the interest from the first to the last curtain, as if one were enthralled.

The story of "Ben Hur" is familiar to everybody. In the play, however, the main incidents of General Wallace's great novels are graphically and faithfully put forth.

Usually one approaches a play made on a really powerful novel with misgivings, but with "Ben Hur" this is different, and herein lies one of its greatest charms. In this wonderful production, when they essay to show you the inside of a galley with a Prince of Hur at one of the oars, it is a stage picture that suggests the every environment and takes on the semblance of reality. The same goes with all the other pictures, from the allegorical one showing the Wise Men discovering the Star of Bethlehem; and onward through those stirring scenes of Jerusalem, preceding Hur's arrest to the galley, the rescue and the Grove of Daphne, which is a picture of Oriental splendor and pleasure combined.

The last scene of this great series of pictures is one that will live in the history of the American Drama as the best scene of the kind ever shown on the American stage. It shows the reunion of the mother, daughter and son, after their years of suffering, the great white light from Mount Olivet, which signified their healing at the hands of the Master. The final grand hosannas of a large chorus brings the curtain down upon a scene which has in it something that should live for a longer period than most dramatic climaxes.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium, or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Bowers & Comstock.

176 Warren Avenue,

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1903.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.
